

Call for Nominations the 2022 Langmuir Lectureship

Sponsored by the ACS Division of Colloid and Surface Chemistry and Langmuir

Nomination Deadline: January 23, 2022

The Langmuir Lectureship recognizes two individuals working in the interdisciplinary field of colloid and surface chemistry. The winners will give their lectures at a dedicated symposium at the 2022 ACS Fall National Meeting.

Each 2022 Winner will receive:

- An award plaque
- An honorarium of US$3,000
- Up to US$1,500 in travel and accommodations funding to attend and present at the 2022 ACS Fall National Meeting

Additional Information:

- Following the lecture, the winners each will be invited to write a Feature Article for publication in Langmuir based on their lecture. The manuscript will be subject to peer review.
- If you have questions, please send them to nabbott@cornell.edu
- Before making a nomination, you must get the nominee's consent to share information about them as part of the nomination process. This is necessary for The American Chemical Society, ACS Publications, and the ACS Division of Colloid and Surface Chemistry \(COLL\) to comply with laws and rules around the processing of personal data.

To make a nomination, you will need

1. A nomination letter that provides insight into the impact of the individual's research accomplishments and their relevance to applications and also addresses the nominee's ability to give a dynamic lecture to a broad audience
2. A supporting letter from another individual familiar with the nominee's work
3. Second letter of support (optional)
4. The nominee's CV including education, appointments, honors and awards, a list of up to 25 relevant publications, and a short description of highlights of research activities.

Nomination packages can be submitted at <https://connect.acspubs.org/lectureship> by January 23, 2022.